A Sweet Epic

Rochish Mon

Heat waves blow
In the water flow
When thirst was quenched
Grief was gathered

By errors, with errors
Our journey we carry out
If not to errors
Where else can we reach out?

We are entangled
In uncontrolled opinions
We are suffering from
Our own views
We stagger a lot
Even to live we hesitate
We hate facts
We have no emotions

When we seek for literature
We receive mere vocabulary
When we wish for music
We hear noise-jugglery

Why is this?
Finesse, why should we miss?

Sculptures of our thoughts
We have to sculpt properly
Paintings of our descendents
We have to up keep safely

To have a glittering history,
We will have to alter ourselves
To have our world
As a sweet epic let us live like good words
Rochish Mon, lives in Chennai, is a business man by vocation and a poet by avocation. His poems have been published in international magazines and anthologies. He received an award of honor from the state governor in the year 2006 as recognition to his involvement in poetry. He writes poetry in English, Telugu, Tamil, Sanskrit languages.

Get Your Book Reviewed

If you have a book review on a book, send it to us. We will publish it free. We don’t charge any fee for publishing. The quality of your article will decide whether your article will be published.

If you want us to review your book, we charge for this. We have a good number of review writers with us. We have different review writers for books of different genres. Our reviews are gaining recognition among the publishers, journals and academia for fair and high quality reviews.

Write to: clrijournal(at)gmail.com

Contemporary Literary Review India